Features and benefits

Why Aker is tough to beat

At Aker, our products are built to perform for a lifetime.

We don't take shortcuts. We never skimp. Throughout our manufacturing process, our people remain integrally involved. We know you're expecting a lot. We also know you're going to love our products. We design our products with a core focus on QUALITY, VALUE, and SERVICE unequaled in today's professional marketplace.

Quality

Our bottoms are tops.

We use 1/2" of balsa wood to stabilize our 4-part "Anti-Flex" construction. The result is superior base strength eliminating floor fatigue and adding years of life to our products.

A higher mix of resin and longer 1" strands of fiberglass in the base and wall construction adds unparalleled strength and durability.

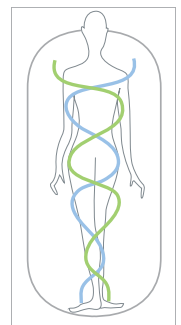

We're hands on.

Aker still hand-rolls our fiberglass and resin laminates. We painstakingly repeat the process as many as four times, reducing the risk of bubbles and cracking.

Bodywrap

The MAAX Aker Bodywrap System provides a superior hydromassage experience for an unequalled whirlpool experience.

- 6-12 directionally-adjustable whirlpool jets with individual water flow control.
- UL-approved system and full 1 HP UL-approved, single-speed motor.
- Advanced, high-performance pump impeller design.
- Vibration-absorbing pump-mount technology.
- Dependable micro switch control technology with 20-minute timer.
- Performance-enhancing twin water recirculation ports with safety covers (most models).
- Pump electrical supply cord with strain relief and male plug end.
- Independently-certified, fully-draining system (ANSI A112 Standards).

Gelcoated Fiberglass

A gel coat surface is formed by spraying a pigmented polyester resin onto a mold. Hefty layers of fiberglass and foam insulation are also added. Gel coat fabrication is a labor-intensive process requiring critically important hand spraying and hand-rolling.

Advantages :

- Easily repaired
- Easy to clean
- Flexible enough to adjust to uneven walls

Acrylic

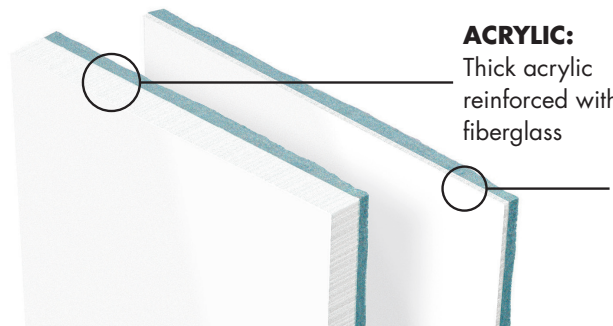

Acrylic is an advanced polymer that is 3 to 5 times thicker than the gelcoat layer found in fiberglass units. Strong and durable, it resists scratches, cracks, and chips. It has a natural luster and a non-porous finish. It is reinforced with a fiberglass and resin composite and hand rolled for strength and durability. Acrylic is a higher quality product and is more durable than gelcoated fiberglass.

Advantages :

- Easily repaired
- Easy to clean
- Resists chipping and cracking
- High gloss finish
- Retains heat
- Color won't fade
- Resists mold and mildew
